

Cookie Policy

Introduction

Welcome to our website. This Cookie Policy ("Policy") is intended to inform you about our position regarding the use of cookies and similar technologies, in accordance with the Swiss Federal Data Protection Act (DPA) and the European Union's General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR).

What are Cookies?

Cookies are small text files that websites can use to make the user experience more efficient. Many websites use them for various purposes, including remembering user preferences, analyzing website traffic, or for advertising purposes.

Our Policy: No Use of Cookies

We wish to inform you that our website does not use any type of cookies. This decision has been made to ensure maximum privacy and security for our users.

Why We Chose Not to Use Cookies

1. User Privacy: We respect your privacy and believe you should be able to browse our website without being tracked.
2. Simplicity: Our website is designed to function effectively without the need for cookies.
3. Regulatory Compliance: This choice allows us to simplify our compliance with privacy regulations such as the Swiss DPA and the EU GDPR.

How Does Our Website Work Without Cookies?

Our website is designed to deliver all necessary functionality without relying on cookies. This means that:

- We do not store user preferences between sessions
- We do not track user behavior on the website
- We do not use third-party cookies for advertising or analytics purposes

Policy Updates

We are committed to keeping this Policy up to date. If we decide to implement the use of cookies in the future, we will update this Policy and implement an appropriate consent system in accordance with applicable laws.
